

INDIFFERENCE OF LUETGERT

Smudge Maker Shows Very Little Interest After His Wife Disappeared.

GIVES THE OFFICERS LITTLE ASSISTANCE

Protests Against Certain Statements in a Newspaper—Will Take Stand and Testify in His Own Behalf.

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—The indifference of Luertger after his wife disappeared was the principal fact brought out against him today. It was shown by the testimony of Police Captain Herman Schuetzler that Luertger did not show any concern regarding his wife and never took the trouble to ask the police whether they had found any trace of her or not. On one occasion he called at the police station to protest against an article in a daily paper, saying that his wife had not died a natural death. The police at this time were dragging the river, taking into clay holes and patrolling the lake above in the hope of finding some trace of the missing woman, but Luertger, after he had complained of the paper, left the station without even asking if the police had found any trace of his wife.

When the police first became aware of the disappearance of Mrs. Luertger, through her brother, they asked Luertger what he had regarding her disappearance, and he said that he had no idea where she was and had wandered away from home. He had not reported her going away, either to the police or to his neighbors because, he said, it was a matter of family honor, and he did not want people to know anything about it. Captain Schuetzler said that in all the police did on the case before the arrest of Luertger, he never asked him any question or suggestion from the husband, and he never seemed to care whether they found her or not.

Luertger today announced that he intends to take the stand and testify in his own behalf. He said he had taken the matter over with his attorneys and they had concluded to tell about his actions on the night preceding the disappearance of his wife, and would convince the jury that he had done nothing wrong.

COURT OPENS.

The court opened with Frank Odorsky. Luertger's smoke house, still in the witness chair. Yesterday Odorsky gave his testimony in German, his native tongue, and a new interpreter was necessary. His direct testimony was confined in a few minutes to the fact that he had seen Luertger in the morning, and that he took from a barrel in the shipping room and placed in the middle vat. Odorsky was turned over to the defense for cross-examination, and Attorney Vincent questioned him first about his application to New York for the arrest of Luertger. The witness said an officer had been with him nearly all the time. No money, he said, had been given him, but he had received money from his wife. He had received money from Inspector Schack. "Just a few cents," said Odorsky, "to keep body and soul together, but for no other purpose."

Odorsky, in his cross-examination, was subjected to severe questioning. With the exception of the few minutes spent in cross-examination between his testimony on various points and statements and what he had given in Luertger's preliminary hearing, he showed no interest in the case. He declared candidly that on the former occasions he had been examined in the middle vat. He did not speak well. Many of the questions he said, he did not understand thoroughly, but he answered to the best of his ability. To all the questions he answered that he did not remember what he said. Odorsky said he only took about half a dozen full of water from the vat. He did not scrape out the vat or examine the bottom thoroughly. The cross-examination came to an end much earlier than was expected and Odorsky was permitted to go.

LABORER TESTIFIES.

Frank Swandowski, also a Pole, was called next. He is at present employed as a laborer by the German, a language which Swandowski was employed in the Luertger factory up to May last, when the sheriff took possession. His work was the warping of hams and in the middle vat. He was called "Smoke Frank," who was called "Ham Frank." Swandowski's testimony was that he had seen Luertger in the vat. He had his hands with the stuff the witness said he covered his hands with rags and also put a cloth over his face to protect himself. He was asked to clean the vat on the Monday following May 1. He said he examined the vat and found it had an offensive smell. There were two smokehouse doors near the vat, which were wet and had this red substance on them, showing that they had been used to cover the vat. There were also a number of sacks near the vat, some of them hanging on the vat next to the one which he alleged Luertger had used. These sacks were destroyed. These sacks were wet, and it is the theory of the prosecution that Luertger used them and tried to cover the vat with the heat.

Swandowski was cross-examined briefly without changing his testimony, and was succeeded in the witness chair by Detective Charles Griebenow of the police department. The detective said that in May, the day before the arrest of Luertger, he met the latter in the saloon of the Germania. Griebenow asked him what the police had discovered, and what he might expect. The witness told Griebenow that when he first met Luertger, the latter asked him if he had a warrant for him. The witness said Luertger said he had a warrant for him. "You are my friend. Do you want me for me?"

The feature of the afternoon's session was the testimony of Captain Schuetzler. Before the captain was called to the witness chair the state proved the purchase of a barrel of caustic soda by Luertger in March last at the store of Owen & Co., and Officer Klingler detailed the conversation between Luertger and Watchman Hiak in the latter's house May 1, when Klingler was concealed under the bed. This was simply a corroboration of the testimony of Hiak.

OFFICER TESTIFIES.

Captain Schuetzler said he was first informed of the disappearance of Mrs. Luertger on May 7 by Detective Hickeness, her brother, and Fred Miller. They gave him a description of the missing woman. That night the captain said he detailed Officer George Smith to make inquiries in the neighborhood of the factory regarding Mrs. Luertger. The next day Officer Smith and Qualey were detailed to investigate the case. Shortly after that the captain said he and Lieutenant Hutchinson visited Luertger at his home. He said he had been acting strange for some time. The witness asked Luertger why he had not notified the police instead of keeping silent. Luertger said that he had been afraid to tell to him and his children that his wife had become insane and he did not like to tell them. He said he had not seen his wife shortly after 10 o'clock the night of her disappearance before he went to the factory for the night.

Captain Schuetzler said that Luertger gave him the name of friends of the missing woman and he sent officers to visit all of them and make inquiries. Search was made for Mrs. Harris in Cleveland avenue, who was found at home and made to identify Wheaton, Elgie, Kankakee and other places.

MINERS AND OPERATORS MEET

Get Together in the Endeavor to Settle Their Differences.

HOLD A SECRET SESSION AT COLUMBUS

Representatives of the Strikers Decline to Discuss Future Plans—Employers Willing to Make Reasonable Concessions.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 2.—The coal operators who were to meet the coal miners, executive committee today met them at 9:30 a. m. with closed doors. All were present for the respective sides. The miners' officials declined to foreshadow any proposed movement in case of a refusal to accept the operators' proposition to open the mines at 64 cents per ton pending arbitration. They were willing to talk of general conditions, but not of specific details. They want the agreement today, if any, to hold good for a year. On the other hand the operators feel very hopeful, in fact, very confident, that the miners' officials will accept and refer the 64-cent rate to their constituents. The operators are willing to make reasonable concessions which may cover a period of three months.

The national executive board of the United Mine Workers has adjourned until tomorrow morning without reaching a conclusion on the proposition of the Pittsburgh operators meeting with the miners. There is where the temper of the Pittsburgh miners has been asserted. They want 63 cents and there is some doubt whether they could be induced to accept less without a vigorous protest, and a long drawn out controversy.

ABLE ADDRESS ON SURGERY

Interesting Paper Read by Dr. Banks Before British Medical Association.

MEN WHO HAVE MADE HISTORY

Heroic Deeds Performed on Battle-Fields and in Hospitals—Scent of Appreciation of Noble Self-Sacrifice.

MONTREAL, Sept. 2.—In the surgery section of the British Medical Association today Dr. Mitchell Banks of Liverpool delivered an address on surgery, as follows: The most careful investigations have failed to make out from our records whether the Romans regularly appointed physicians and surgeons to their armies or not. It is probable that every question relating to their military organization has been treated of, sometimes very fully. From various sources we have gathered some information on the subject, mainly from the histories of the Roman Empire. In Northumberland—now called Northumbria—was one of the principal states of the Roman Empire. The first Roman legion known to have been present at the battle of the Marston, and to have served at Caesary, a Roman, near Edinburgh, in Cumberland, and in the history of the Roman Empire.
